Market review

The Australian market had a strong month in December, finishing 7.2% higher with all 11 sectors posting positive returns. Investors also see potential for rate cuts from central banks in 2024, and these factors contributed to the monthly return. Leading the market higher were Property (11.5%), Healthcare (9.8%) and Materials (8.8%), while Energy and, Utilities were laggards.

Global equity markets rallied into the end of the year on easing inflation data. Developed markets continued to outperform emerging markets returning 1.8% (MSCI World Ex-Australia Index (AUD)) versus a 1.0% return according to the MSCI Emerging Markets Index (AUD).

The S&P/ASX 300 A-REIT Accumulation index finished the year strongly during December, with the index finishing 11.4% higher. Global real estate equities (represented by the FTSE EPRA/NAREIT Developed Ex Australia Index (AUD Hedged)) also performed well, advancing 8.3% for the month. The Global Infrastructure sector (as represented by the FTSE Global Core Infrastructure 50/50 Index (AUD Hedged)) finished 3.3% higher for the month.

The RBA kept the cash rate on hold at 4.35% in its final meeting of 2023, although remained less dovish about rate cuts in 2024 compared to other central banks. The Australian 2-Year Bond yield edged down by 40bps, while the 10-Year yield fell by 45bps as investors digested the mixed signals of a steady cash rate against potential inflation concerns. The Bloomberg AusBond Composite 0+ Yr Index benefited in December returning a robust 2.7% and 5.1% over calendar year. In the global bond markets, most developed government bond yields were swept up in the dovish Fed Governors speech and the surprise reveal of three rate cuts in the second half of 2024. As a result, the Bloomberg Global Aggregate TR Index (AUD Hedged) returned 3.0% and for the year to December, the bond index was up 5.3%.

Asset allocation breakdown

Portfolio Commentary

Over the 12 months to December, the portfolio delivered solid absolute returns of 7.08% and outperformed the peer group benchmark by 1.07% in a challenging market environment where inflation and concerns over a 'higher for longer' interest rate environment quickly pivoted to a 'risk on' rally over the December quarter.

For the month of December itself, the portfolio returned 2.33%, outperforming the peer group benchmark. Dynamic asset allocation (DAA) slightly detracted for the month, due to the slightly underweight positions in global equities, in a month where growth assets rallied strongly.

Manager selection marginally detracted for the month, primarily due to domestic equities, mitigated by stronger relative returns in fixed income, alternatives and global equity managers.

At a fund level, the top contributor to relative returns was the iShares Government Inflation ETF, which rose 4.6% on the back of a more favourable rate environment and limited new issuance. The Betashares Global Shares Currency Hedged ETF also performed well due to a strengthening AUD, outperforming the unhedged benchmark. Other strong contributors included the ATLAS Infrastructure Australian Feeder Fund and Fulcrum Diversified Investments Fund.

The portfolio's exposure to the Schroder Fixed Income Fund was the top relative performer in fixed interest, driven by a long duration position and overweight allocation to credit spreads, primarily in Australia.

In terms of detractors, the AB Managed Volatility Fund underperformed for the month on the back of its Materials and Financials exposures. Within global equities, the Ironbark Royal London Core Global Share Fund was the top detractor while the Macquarie Income Opportunities Fund underperformed within fixed income. The Ardea Real Outcome Fund also underperformed within the alternatives allocation.

Dynamic Asset Allocation Positioning

Outlook

We believe that a soft landing is decidedly more optimistic at this point of the cycle, and we are reflecting this in our portfolios. We agree with the market that central banks are likely to ease their monetary policies, but not at the rates currently shown by market pricing. Persistent inflation will temper central bank actions. Unless there is any unexpected inflation surprise, policy rates have probably peaked in most developed markets.

On the horizon, keep an eye on the Australian dollar as it has recently weakened again, observe any policy changes from the Chinese government to inject more meaningful stimulus into its economy, a change in the scope and magnitude of fighting in the Ukraine and Israel, and developments in the US presidential primaries.

We strongly recommend that potential investors read the product disclosure statement or investment statement.
