Market review

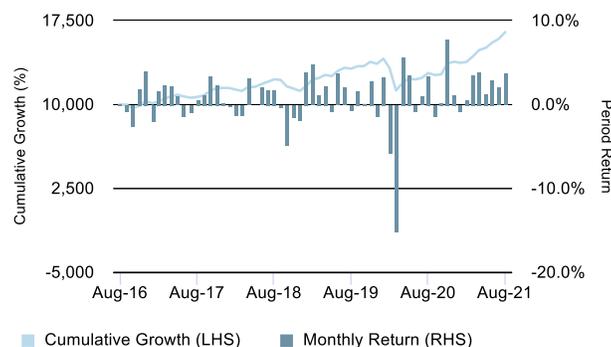

The Australian share market continued its advance for the year following a strong reporting season, with the S&P/ASX 300 gaining 2.6% for the month; year to date the index is up an impressive 17%. Information Technology contributed strongly with a 17% gain for the month. Materials and Energy were the only detractors following continued weakness in iron ore prices and a softer month for oil.

Global markets continued their climb into August, with emerging markets slightly outperforming developed markets, with the MSCI Emerging Markets Index returning 3.2% as the region recovers from a sharp sell-off driven by Chinese equities in late July. Developed markets continue to be supported by economic stimulus and vaccination efforts with the MSCI AC World ex-Australia Index climbing 3.1%, despite unabated trends in daily case rates across developed economies.

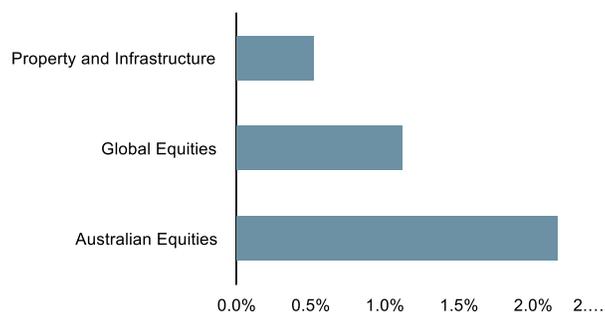

A-REITs advanced strongly during August with the S&P/ASX 200 A-REIT Accumulation Index achieving 6.3% for the month and 30.8% for 12 months to 31 August 2021. The months news was dominated by the release of the 2021 full-year financial results. The financial results across A-REITs were generally strong, although Goodman Group fell on poorer than expected FY22 earnings guidance.

Yields remained relatively static at the short end of the curve, but fell at the longer end, resulting in a flatter curve overall in August. Concerns regarding tapering off the current level of stimulus, combined with credit spreads continuing to tighten over the course of the month led to the Bloomberg AusBond Composite 0+ Yr Index returning 0.1%. Globally, there has been significant heterogeneity in the performance of international bond markets as variation in vaccination rates and other COVID related metrics remains high, as a result the Bloomberg Barclays Global Aggregate Index (AUD Hedged) Index fell 0.2%.

Asset allocation breakdown

Portfolio Commentary

The Portfolio returned 3.83% for the month of August, outperforming both the relevant peer group benchmark and internal strategic benchmark. All asset classes contributed to total returns over the period.

Manager selection was generally strong through the month, particularly within Australian equities and fixed income. At a high level, equity managers exposed to the quality factor did well as investors sought the relative safety in the face of macroeconomic challenges. The Bennelong ex-20 Australian Equities Fund was the top performer within the Australian Equities allocation for the month. Within global equities, the T. Rowe Price Global Equity Fund continued its strong recent performance driven by select holdings in Europe and the USA.

Outlook

Continued lockdowns in NSW and Victoria, albeit with a potential end date in sight, continue to weigh on investor sentiment and the domestic recovery. Despite that, the RBA remains confident in the outlook, pressing ahead with plans to begin reducing its bond buying stimulus to $4 billion a week, from $5 billion. Cyclical indicators are moderating from very high levels; however, policy support continues with ultra-low rates and ongoing, but more targeted, fiscal support being provided.

Globally, vaccination programs continue to press forward as economic data, largely in the US, remains strong and financial markets continue their upward trajectory. Geopolitical risk remains at the front of mind, with Australia's relationship with China and the US withdrawal from Afghanistan continuing to make headlines. The portfolio remains well diversified across asset classes and the quality and risk-control elements embedded within sectors, provide added comfort as we manage through what we expect may be a more volatile period.

We strongly recommend that potential investors read the product disclosure statement or investment statement.
